ABOUT ME

I am a London-based editor, experienced in all stages of the production process, and aspiring to specialise as an editor in film. I have experience working freelance and in full-time employment. I have enjoyed working on personal projects and volunteering as a photographer and videographer for local festivals.

I am driven, highly organised and determined to see a project through to the end. My patience, focus and adaptability ensure I produce the best content I can in any situation and to any deadline.
